George E. Bell Writes Regarding Alberta Legislature

The second week of the present session of the Alberta Legislature saw continuation of a date on the Speech from the Throne.

Excitement ran high on two of the three columns when members of the government side of the House rose to correct false statements and misrepresentations made by the G. E. Bell.

Mr. member from Banff-Groehne had his seat moved to the left of the Speaker during the week at the request of the government members.

Mr. A. J. Hooke, in reporting to the legislature on the work of the departments, dealt extensively with the work of the Film Censorship Board. This independent board last week checked over 2100 pictures. They thought about 110 eliminations (part of pictures cut out) and refused two pictures namely "Allotment Wives" and "Daisy".

The Act governing censorship of motion pictures has been in effect for 20 years, but there has not been any appreciable reason for its rigid enforcement. 35 mm. pictures have always been censored, and most 16 mm. films were educational films. What was happening was that when 35 mm. pictures were censored, the same film was being shown in the province in the 16 mm. size.

In dealing with housing, Mr. Hooke pointed out material from distinguished military counts being made available as quickly as possible according to a priority list where government departments came first, municipalities and school boards second, and veterans homes and businesses next.

His report showed that five insurance companies written by the government had increased thirty three and one third percent during the past year, and now totalled more than $10,000,000.

The same steady progress was shown in the life insurance branch. Hon. C. E. Gault, in reporting on the Department of Municipal Affairs, told the House that the farming population was down 14 percent last year, while the provincial population showed a five percent increase.

The use of electricity in the province last year was up 25 percent while tax collections generally were very high.

The Social Service tax, a field which last year netted the government over a million dollars, is being returned to the municipal districts. This field may henceforth be used by the municipalities to increase their revenues.

Like minister, in dealing with the Department of Trade and Industry, gave information which showed a very favorable industrial development and expansion. Last year sixty six new industries started in the province. This has provided employment for more than a thousand people, and has added much to the total provincial assessment. Thirty six new industries are now making plans to enter the province, with many more making enquiries. Twenty seven new co-operative associations were formed last year. The total business done by co-operative associations last year exceeded $104,000,000.

One of the subjects most profile in the way of texts for comment is that of the safety program for business concerns engaged in financial transactions of any kind. Many more persons should adopt the plan of making payments of all kind by check instead of in currency. Every few days the newspapers publish accounts of thefts which have been committed in case of persons who withdrew sums of money from the banks, or use money they have kept in their homes for payments on property and other transactions. A check eliminates all possibility of loss of money in making payments. Checks are purchased to know that person withdrawing cheques for payment are entitled to the money, and even if a check is stolen it is highly improbable that it can be negotiated by the thief. Banks require identification before making payment on checks, and the writer of the check can immediately stop payment on it if it is stolen. Persons who keep money in considerable amounts in the home do so at their own risk. Would he thieves have means of securing information which may not be suspected by the person who keeps money in his home or they may even take a chance of finding currency hidden about the house. The resulting loss is the mine. There is no reason why any individual should draw currency from the bank when check will complete a financial transaction; neither is there any excuse for a person who receives money understanding to be his own banker.

Do You Remember Twenty Years Ago

Mayor and Mrs. I. Michael have gone to Edmonton for visit with some of their friends.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Riches and son returned from Cardston by motor last week, where Mr. Riches was engaged in building a large new building.

H. Nelson has returned to town after an absence of several weeks in Lethbridge.

W. Matteson, wife and three sons have arrived from Lethbridge, to make Gleichien their future home. He is taking charge of the Crown Lumber Co. yards here.

A Varner wife Gleichien recently is now located at Vilna, north of Edmonton.

The annual fremen's banquet held last week was attended by sixty-five of Gleichien's most able bodied men.

It was a luxurious dinner which consisted mainly of corned beef and cabbage. L. Michael, N. T. Purcell, I. Blakeman and T. H. Beach were the speakers.

A crowd of hockey team played here the other night and won the game 6 to 5. Arrowwood players Thompson, G. Eaton, P. Norton, S. Vico, Bastien, Coleman and Coleman.

Red Cross

Total number of children in all provinces given free medical care last year under the auspices of the Junior Red Cross was 2,107, according to a report prepared by Miss Jean Brown, national director.

The children given assistance, 770 of them orthopedic cases, were from families whose resources were insufficient to permit of paying for surgical attention.

In two provinces, Saskatchewan and Alberta, the Red Cross operates children's hospital. In the other provinces, patients sponsored by the Junior Red Cross are given treatment in existing hospitals.

Since the inception in 1932 of this department of Red Cross work, 28,410 children have been given medical attention. Reports have been received at National Headquarters of a number of once crippled children restored to complete health by the Junior Red Cross and since grown to adulthood, who served in all branches of the armed services in the recent war.

Advances in medical knowledge and techniques have considerably increased the percentage of cures of children with actual defects or with conditions which if neglected lead to serious handicaps, according to Miss Brown. There have been advances also in the social sciences which provide for mental, emotional and personality needs, likewise, of great value in the treatment of handicapped children.

Junior Red Cross membership across Canada was 827,498 at the end of the last school year. A fact revealed by the report is an increase of 9,000 in the high school 'teen age' membership over the preceding year.

Among the peace time expenditures of the Canadian Red Cross Society is Junior Red Cross administration costs. To meet this and the costs of the many other peace time activities of the Society, a national

Easy Money

It's warble time again—and time for action. Action last year brought to 50,000 Alberta farmers a gain of $5.00 per head on 800,000 cattle.

Others, location meant loss. The season is short, the price attractive, and now is the time for every cattle owner to ensure his share of the profits.

The warble or hefly fly is Alberta's most expensive cattle pest, and the easiest to control. At this time of year simple treatment is all that is needed. Once the larva has hatched from the egg and entered the host, nothing can stop its eight month migration through the animal's system.

Not until it arrives under the skin of the back and hoes its breathing hole can we attack it. There is nothing we can do to stop the inflammation, irritation, discomfort and unthrift which attend the grub's painful course. These effects of last summer's infestation have by now cost the owner approximately $8.00 per head in reduced production, damaged hide, and feed wastage.

Thirty thousand Alberta stockmen avoided all this. It cost them about five cents per head—a small expenditure in return for such a handsome dividend. These men highly recommend warble fly control, not only as good business, but as a humane act towards their cattle. Treatment is cheap, easy and completely effective—and IT'S WARBLE TIME NOW!

HERE AND THERE

Wm. Ramsey of Edmonton spent a day or so in town last week disposing of his property here.

Bassano hockey boys were to have played here one night last week but for some reason or other failed to put in an appearance much to the disappointment of the local players and fans.

Tom Brown of the Queens' Hotel has purchased the residence of the late J. W. Ramsey located near to Dan Macdonald's blacksmith shop. Monday Tom and Mrs. Brown had a squad of men move their furniture from the hotel to their new home.

March came in like a lion this time over the weekend almost a foot of snow fell and the below zero temperatures made winter a grim reality. With the new snow it was a common sight Sunday to see cars stalled on the streets in town. With a little elbow grease and a shovel most cars were able to move on.

Frank Catling, aged 81, died at the Bowden House last Wednesday where he had made his home for the past four years. He was born in London, England, and was a veteran of the Egyptian and Boer wars. He spent some twenty years farming in Canada and retired ten years ago. The funeral took place Friday afternoon with Major A. F. Parkinson officiating. Interment was made in Everdine cemetery.

Daniel Robertson Gordon, a resident of the last school year, is now being appeal for $50,000.00 is now being made across Canada.

of Everdine home for the past two and a half years died Friday at the age of 70 years and eight months. He is born in Wainwright, Ontario and was a real old timer of Alberta, coming to the province with his parents when he was a baby. By trade he was a carpenter and spent all his life at that work. He came to Gleichien from Kneshill, Alberta. Deceased is survived by his wife two sons and a daughter. Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock with Major A. F. Parkinson officiating after which interment was made in Everdine cemetery.

The British Broadcasting Corporation recently inaugurated a new radio network called the Third Program, featuring music, dramas and discussions of a serious nature. Banned are comedies, songs of popular songs, dance bands and, of course all advertising. The directors were a bit hesitant about starting the Third Program because they did not feel that it would attract a sufficient audience. However, almost instant public response was so great that the venture has become an overwhelming success, proving that listeners prefer good music and talks of educational value. Here in Canada we could do with a separate network carrying entertainment along the same lines. For too long a time we have been catering to programs originating in the United States. We are forced to listen to high salaried American comedians with their not-so-funny jokes. In the daytime the air is filled with soap opera and the chatter of disc jockeys. Ninety per cent of the drama programs are stories about gangsters and murder thrillers that are barely suitable for children to hear. It's time we stepped out to display our own brand of talent, instead of depending on the United States networks. Let us inaugurate the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, offer suggestions to Canadian producers and aid Canadian artists. If a distinctive Canadian culture is to flourish we must cast off all foreign influences.

Your RED CROSS help is needed!

In frontier districts of Canada the nearest hospital or doctor may be a hundred or more away. Over twenty years ago the Red Cross began establishing outpost hospitals and nursing stations in these remote regions. Today a whole chain of Outpost Hospitals can be found in the frontier districts of the Dominion. They bring medical science within reach of these isolated communities. Hundreds of thousands of patients have been treated in these tiny hospitals, including thousands of confinement cases. These hospitals also serve as health centres for their communities, carrying on medical inspection in the schools and organizing clinics for the children. Your help is needed to maintain and expand this vital work. Stand behind the Red Cross, and help bring medical aid to your fellow Canadians pioneering on Canada's frontiers. Give NOW... give generously.

An Agency For Peace

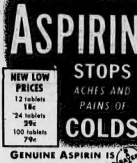

THE PHRASE "ONE WORLD" has been used in many connections in recent years and it has become very familiar to us all. It has now been taken up by the United Nations Educational, Scientific, and Cultural Organization which has summarized its objective as "to make the peoples of the world live and think in terms of one world." It is possible that this organization, in which forty-four countries are represented, may have a far-reaching effect on the future outlook of many thousands of people, for its plans to work through departments of education, teachers, and adult education leaders to promote international understanding and stamp out narrow nationalism.

To Break Down Many Barriers

The organization, known more briefly as U.N.E.S.C.O., hopes to develop a world-wide program in fundamental education and to fight illiteracy. It also plans to study the possibilities of establishing an international radio network and of breaking down barriers in other fields associated with the exchange of information and ideas. Mr. Herman Vanden, one of the Canadian representatives to the recent meeting of U.N.E.S.C.O., pointed out in an interview at the conclusion of the gathering, that it must be remembered that the organization does not wish to interfere with the art or culture of any country, but only to teach "the age-old theme of tolerance, understanding and friendship."

A Hopeful Sign For The Future

Prime Minister Aitken once said that "war is made in the minds of men." Few people need to be reminded of the powerful part played by distorted ideas in the building up of the Nazi regime in Germany. It is now a hopeful sign for the future peace of the world that the importance of education in breaking down prejudice and misunderstanding has been recognized, and that practical steps are being taken to use it as a means of preventing future wars. One very commendable and practical undertaking of the organization is the plan to launch a campaign to raise $100,000,000 to rebuild schools and provide educational equipment in the war-devastated countries. It is probable that immediate results of the plans made at the recent meeting held by U.N.E.S.C.O. will be felt here and in other lands, and it is to be hoped that its undertakings will meet with the interest and support which they deserve.

CHICAGO YOUTH GETS NEW FACE

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich.—David Ruge, 16-year-old Chicago boy who admitted attempting to extort money to finance a facial operation to eliminate "ape-like" features, was released from a hospital here, his doctor expressing complete satisfaction with the surgery.

The operation was performed Jan. 15 by Dr. Ferris Smith, internationally known plastic surgeon.

David has seen his face in the mirror every day since the operation during changes of dressings. Dr. Smith explained, and has frequently expressed "delight" over the results.

He added that the structure of bones and muscles originally had given the boy "a perpetual scowl of a particularly ferocious nature."

FUNNY and ♦♦ ♦♦ OTHERWISE

It was the young user's first big wedding and he had to receive help from the reserved and nervously tapped her on the shoulder and then said with a rush: "Marion, my friend, you're occupying the wrong pie. May I see you to another sheet?"

Juggins: "How do you get on?"
Juggins: "He's about the meanest man I know."
Juggins: "How's that?"
Juggins: "He's had the legs sawn off the wheelchair so that I can't sit down and rest."

The banker's daughter threw her arms around the neck of the bridegroom-to-be.

"Oh, dear," she exclaimed, "dad's going to give us a cheque for a present!"

"Excellent!" exclaimed the happy young man. "Then we'll have the wedding at noon instead of 2 o'clock."

"Why, dear?"
"The bank's closed at 3!"

The train was a cross-country affair that stopped at all stations and frequently several times in between. Toward the end of a very long journey the conductor came around.

"Look here, sir," he said to one of the passengers as he examined his tickets, "the law is too big to travel half-fare."

"Is so heavy?" replied the passenger quietly. "Well, he was small enough when we started."

Bill was busy at his desk when a friend creaked in.

Friend (grinning): "I don't know what to do with this rheumatic pain."

Bill (politely): "I didn't know you suffered from rheumatism."

Friend (glowing): "What else can you do with it?"

A professor of physiology was describing the organs of sense, etc., and finally asked for a summary of his lecture. The star of the class arose and said:

"Well, Prof., as I see it, I see with my eye organ, I hear with my ear organ, I smell with my nose organ, I taste with my mouth organ, and I feel with my hand organ."

PREDICTS SUCCESS IN CANCER RESEARCH

NEW YORK.—The problem of cancer will be whipped within five years, Elmer Bobst said in accepting the chairmanship of the American Cancer Society's drive to raise $12,000,000 for a concentrated attack on the disease.

Bobst is not a medical man, but he is a recognized authority on cancer. He said he based his opinion that cancer would be solved in five years on the knowledge he had gained in his years in the pharmaceutical business.

Bobst also disclosed that the society already has made research grants, totalling about $2,500,000, to 101 universities and medical schools and that eventually every phase of cancer would come under the program.

At least 1,000 topnight scientists are now working in the research laboratories and will join the battle as the accelerated program moves forward, he said.

"I believe that within five years we will know all about cancer, he said."

Bobst indicated that numerous new leads and discoveries had been made in the research laboratories and that some of these might be made public soon.

On Seed Treatment

More farmers in Western Canada should realize that seed treatment is a sound, practical and profitable farm practice. Unfortunately, in the past, the importance of seed treatment in Western Canada each year catches disease-producing organisms, or is damaged by weathering or threshing. Therefore the best advice we can give to prairie farmers is to use disease seed of cereals, legumes, barley and other crops known to be disease-free and undamaged, treat treatment is necessary and strongly recommended.

Recommended Treatments. Today, the organic mercury dusts (Fungicide, Agrichem, etc.) are generally considered the best for cereals.

ity recommended for use on seed of wheat, oats, barley and flax. Covering the seed with an organic mercury dust has a two-fold effect: (1) It controls surface-borne smut, not the loose smuts of wheat and barley, and reduces the losses caused by seedling blight and certain root rots. (2) It gives the seed, when sown, considerable protection against the attack of soil-inhabiting organisms that may rot the seed or cause seedling blight. Formalin is not recommended for seed wheat. Under no conditions should it be used for the hulls.

Treat Treatment Factors. (1) The treatment factor referred to in the mercury dust treatment the dust should first be thoroughly cleaned of any grain or grain residue. The application is by hand or by means of a brush; for this rate (1) one end-ounce per bushel (100 lb) of dust is sufficient to thoroughly coat the grain. (2) The dust should stand uncovered or in sacks for at least 24 hours before planting (3) days are preferable for oats and barley. (4) The treatment should be repeated every two to three months in advance of sowing. (5) The organic mercury dusts are not suitable for use on cereals. The instructions given on the label of the dust container. (6) Seed treated with inorganic mercury dust should not be used for commercial purposes or to livestock.

Further information on seed treatment may be obtained from the Dominion Laboratories of Plant Pathology at Edmonton, Saskatoon, and Winnipeg, or from Line Elevator Service.
